AOG Energy Returns in March – Reconnecting the Global Industry

Returning to Perth 15-17 March 2023, the re-energised AOG Energy, will be a hub of collaboration as the entire supply chain comes together to discover opportunity and stimulate business growth.

After the 2022 edition was cancelled due to border closures and COVID-19, AOG Energy returns to its former three-day glory with a full exhibition, conference program and sought-after networking events. It's the first-time international delegates have been able to attend since 2020.

Operating for over 40-years, AOG Energy has a renewed focus on the energy transition so that it remains the industry platform to converge and showcase innovation.

Exhibition

The exhibition floor will host industry leaders, suppliers, and innovators, including major operators from the entire oil, gas, and energy sector. Exhibitors will showcase their capabilities and solutions across several specialised zones such as subsea, energy transition, drilling and completions, health and safety, digital technology, and more, as well as the wider energy portfolio.

Conference

Three dedicated conference theatres will return to the exhibition floor, free to attend. Each theatre will host industry led content that has been curated specially for AOG Energy.

Key themes will include decarbonisation, low emission technology, hydrogen and new fuels, subsea technology, renewables, decommissioning, diversity and inclusion, talent, supply chain opportunities and so much more.

Networking

Known as the key industry platform to reconnect annually, the networking functions will be highly sought-after in 2023 as delegates return to Perth for the first time since 2021 – and for many since 2020.

The Subsea Welcome Drinks, Official Opening Party and Diversity and Inclusion Breakfast will make up the formal networking events hosted by AOG Energy, as well as the endless opportunities to reconnect on the exhibition floor.
